Cross-border mergers: a road map for a successful international merger. How to find your way in the merged worlds of Kafka and Babylon.

The Corporate Acquisition & Joint Ventures Commission of AIJA would like to invite you to take part in the seminar “Cross-border mergers: a road map for a successful international merger. How to find your way in the merged worlds of Kafka and Babylon” which will take place in the modern Babylon of our times, Brussels.

The seminar aims to present and share the experiences of expert lawyers and of managers of international groups with cross-border mergers. It will focus on recent developments of mergers between companies in the European Union. It will also draw on experience of cross-border mergers outside the European Union.

The seminar will examine the main legal and practical aspects of such reorganisations, including the major corporate, tax and employment issues.

Leading lawyers and managers in their respective fields will share their views and experience and give the audience an opportunity for discussion and debate.

It took more than 40 years of political and legal discussions to agree the current process for cross-border mergers between EU-based companies. During all these years, countless politicians, lawyers, experts and lobbyists have enjoyed working and living in Brussels. This seminar will give you the opportunity to share with them the well-known and less-well-known treasures of the Belgian capital. We will do our best to surprise you and your new and old AIJA colleagues and friends!
