Dear Phillip and Jim:

On behalf of our show, The Asian Business Hour, we want to thank you again for your appearance this week to discuss the current state of affairs at the Port. As was mentioned, this broadcast was aired on Wednesday, July 13th at 1:00 p.m. and is now available on www.octalkradio.net. The podcast will also be distributed to participants of the International Association of Young Lawyers (AIJA) international trade conference to be held in Long Beach October 13-15, 2011. AIJA will be touring the port with Norm Arikawa on October 13th.

The Show can also be accessed via this link pasted into your browser:

Or, alternatively, I am providing the HTML code which, if you give this to your webmaster, can be added to the Port's website for listening by the public (see next pages).

I look forward to seeing Jim at the August 4th Trade Connect event in Van Nuys.

Sincerely,

David M. Griffith

THE ASIAN BUSINESS HOUR – JULY 2011 – UPCOMING SHOWS

July 13, 2011 – 1:00 P.M.: Doing Business with the Port of Los Angeles. The Port of Los Angeles is America's Port® and the premier gateway for international commerce. The Port is located in San Pedro Bay, 20 miles south of downtown Los Angeles. This thriving seaport not only sustains its competitive edge with record-setting cargo operations, but is also known for its groundbreaking environmental initiatives, progressive security measures, diverse recreational and educational facilities, and an emerging LA Waterfront. When measured by container throughput, the Port has consecutively ranked as the number one port in the nation for the last decade. We are pleased to have Phillip Sanfield and Jim MacLellan as our guests for this edition of the Asian Business Hour.

Phillip Sanfield, Director of Media Relations, Port of Los Angeles. Mr. Sanfield serves as the media spokesperson for the Port and is responsible for media inquiries. Mr. Sanfield establishes and maintains relationships with local, national and international media, and strives for accuracy in resulting media coverage and Port messaging. Among other duties, he coordinates press conferences, media tours, interviews, editorial submissions, photography and video shoots. Prior to his appointment at the Port in 2009, Mr. Sanfield had a journalism career spanning more than two decades in Southern California.

Jim MacLellan, Director of Trade Development, Port of Los Angeles. Mr. MacLellan is responsible for trade programs to encourage increased trade through the Port of Los Angeles and the Southern California Gateway. This includes programs to encourage and assist small to medium size businesses to diversify into export markets. He is also responsible for outreach to trade related associations. He has held this position since January 2007, and previously was Director of Marketing, at which time he directed marketing programs and coordinated activities of the Port's ten international offices. Prior to joining the Port of Los Angeles in 1992, he spent more than 20 years working internationally in the maritime and intermodal shipping business.
